WEBSITE DEVELOPER

Reports to: Communications Director/Brand Manager

The Website Developer assists with coding, innovating design and layout of our website including optimizing responsiveness from concept to completion.

The candidate is an in-house WordPress expert with data management and design experience. This position also includes but is not limited to building data platforms and small amounts of design.

Why You'll Enjoy This Role

Web Development and Design is a growing industry, one that is intersectional as integrated web marketing becomes even more prominent and necessary for organisations. As our Web Developer, you will be responsible for ensuring that our archives and online presence are contemporary and easy to navigate, improving our marketing and brand identity.

Key Responsibilities & Duties

- Assist in the development and design of the website;
- Write well designed, testable, efficient code using standard software development and best practices;
- Create & improve website user interface and user experience;
- Data integration from databases;
- Website maintenance, expansion and scaling;
- Perform tasks that may be assigned from time to time by the Board of Directors;

Qualifications & Experience

- While volunteerism is open to all – including non-graduates – a proven track record in web development and design is advantageous and will be considered.
